eSICS22 Poster Competition

The Scottish Intensive Care Society eSICS22 team invite delegates to submit an electronic poster or infographic for display at eSICS22. There will be no written abstract stage for this competition and submissions are welcome from all members of the multidisciplinary team.

Posters should describe the findings of a research, quality improvement or audit project, or an interesting case history. No patient identifiable information should be presented. If describing a case history, permission must be sought, and confirmed by the author at the time of submission.

Posters should be submitted to esics2022@gmail.com by 5pm on Friday 22nd April 2022. Submissions should be PDF format in A4 size. As this will be viewed online please make sure you consider the size of text and detail of images. Posters will be scored prior to the meeting by the meetings team or delegated members of a judging panel appointed by the meetings team. The highest scoring submissions will be invited to make a short oral presentation of their work at eSICS22 on 5th May 2022. Posters will be judged on the novelty, importance, and impact of the work, visual presentation, and if selected for oral presentation, oral communication of the work, and the ability to answer questions posed by the audience.

Please note:

1. All judging decisions are final, there is no appeals process nor opportunity to discuss decisions made.
2. Poster and oral presenters must be registered to attend eSICS22 by Friday 22nd April 2022.
3. Individuals invited to present their poster will be notified of this decision by 5pm on Friday 29th April.
